

3/23/20

As you are aware, Governor Hogan has issued orders today for all non-essential businesses to close, effective today at 5 PM.

Since Delmarva Printing provides print and information services to critical economic sectors such as diverse healthcare agencies, local and regional utilities, the US Postal Service, and others; and also to many agencies of the US government such as NIH, Department of Justice, the Social Security Administration, the US Government Printing Office, and many others, our business qualifies as 'essential' to the continuing economy.

We will remain open through the current crisis and are ready to serve you by producing your printed materials.

Thank you as always for your continued support!
